Love Lies Deep - Yuwanda Black

PREFACE "Sometimes baby, love lies deep ... a man gets buried in your soul and there ain't no getting him out." Her mother had said that to her once. The words haunted her as she thought about Satchel. He'd been the one to end their relationship over seven years ago, so what did he want now? And what did he mean he wouldn't stay away from her; that he'd never wanted to. She had fought hard to get over Satchel, and one thing she knew for sure ... there was no way she was letting him back in -- not after the way he'd crushed her all those years ago. She couldn't live through that kind of pain again. No human could endure that twice in a lifetime. And, she knew just how to keep him away. Only, could she go through with it? Or, would the love that had lain so deeply within her for him resurface, leading to heartbreak all over again? *** Three years earlier "Sometimes baby, love lies deep ... a man gets buried in your soul and there ain't no getting him out," Celia said to her daughter. "Have you ever felt that way about a man mama?" "Yes, once. Who? Daddy?" Nylah asked. "No honey. I loved your father, but a bit before I met him, there was someone else ..." "You mean you loved another man more than you loved daddy?" Nylah queried, incredulous. She'd never even imagined her mother with another man. "Nylah I had a life before your father," her mother said simply. "I was quite the looker you know. I had a few suitors before your father settled me down. But, a woman doesn't have to tell all her secrets. In fact, there are some things she never tells another soul. That's just the way of a woman." "Well ... why haven't you ever told me any of this before? Did daddy know?" "You mean did he know if I dated other men before he came along? ... Of course he did," Celia answered before Nylah could confirm or deny her question. "Why do you think he was so quick to propose? He did so after three weeks of courting me, you know?" Nylah smiled and shook her head. She'd heard the story many times. It was ironic, she thought. She'd dated a man for three, almost four years and instead of proposing, he'd given her her walking papers. Her mother, on the other hand, had gotten a marriage proposal - in three weeks. Nylah often wondered about women like her mother. What did they possess that a man couldn't resist? What secret did they have? And how did it draw a man into a lifetime commitment so quickly? Whatever special power or secret or trait it was, she hadn't inherited it. In fact, it was just the opposite. She seemed to be able to repel suitors with very little effort. "So who was he; this other man? Why didn't you marry him? What happened between you all?" Nylah asked, still flabbergasted that her mother had never even breathed a single word about someone who had obviously meant a great deal to her. "That's a story for another day and another time. But I do know of a couple who had that kind of love you're carrying around in you for Satchel. Your grandparents; your father's mama and daddy. I've never seen two people more in love. I think that's why your father was able to love me so, and why I was so devoted to him. He had the best example of what love was supposed to look and feel like - and I did my best to be the kind of wife his mother was - because lord knows my parents were a disaster. If there were two people who didn't belong together, it was my mother and father." Nylah hadn't known her mother's parents. But she smiled, thinking back on the grandparents she did know -- her father's parents. She'd witnessed the love flow between them as effortlessly as waves crashing against an ocean shore. It was a rare site to see. Even as a child, Nylah knew that there was something special about their union. They fit, like a pair of ultra-soft leather gloves molded to your hands, that's how closely and beautifully they melded into each other. "I want that mama. I want that so bad," Nylah said, her throat convulsing as she swallowed the pain threatening to engulf her. "There's someone out there for you honey. You just have to trust that." "I don't want someone mama. I want 'the one.' I want what grandma and grandpa had. ... What if I've found the one? What if it was Satchel? What if I never feel for another man the way I feel for him? It's been over a year and I haven't even mustered up enough interest to go on one date." "Give it time honey. It'll be alright. The right man will come along. You will love again." Celia placed her hand on her daughter's back and rubbed it as they sat on the front porch of the little craftsman-style bungalow the Simmons had called home for four decades. It was the home Nylah had grown up in. Her mother had nursed her through all of her teenaged heartbreaks here. They'd had many talks right on the same concrete steps they sat on now. She wasn't sure if it was fitting or pitiful that some twenty years later, her mother was still nursing her through heartbreaks. Nylah buried her face in her hands and exhaled heavily. "But will I love again like that mama?" she said, tears silently coursing down her cheeks. "Will I love like that?" she repeated. ***** Relevant Search Terms:

Love Lies Within - Stephan J Myers 2014-11-17
Beyond the rush of heady romance, love's melody lingers in the most unexpected places. Our capacity to love, an endless opus to the human spirit. Yet, try as we may to define it, our words may only offer the most cursory of insights. How can we truly define something so intrinsic to body and soul? Best then to speak not of love, but those paths upon which its presence or absence may lead us. In haunting and timeless prose, Stephan J Myers has the enduring ability to reach the hearts and minds of his readers. Taking universal emotions and weaving powerful poetic tales through images and words, he makes a connection that lives beyond the page. Few readers will read the words of 'The Fallen' or 'The Kiss' and remain unmoved, whilst 'The Writer' speaks to the darker side of love. From his magical children's series to the tragedy of The Prayer and The Fallen, his extraordinary renditions have won him an enthusiastic international following. His work exploring the spectrum of life from the imaginative years of childhood to the complexity of our later life and the choices we come to make.

Starting afresh he sets out to explore every corner of the Swedish society, and the hypocrisy and corruption he finds shocks him. Walking the streets of Stockholm will never be the same again once this novel gets under your skin. Named the first modern Swedish novel, 'The Red Room' (1879) is wonderfully insightful and ironic. August Strindberg (1849-1912) was a world-famous Swedish playwright, who, in Sweden, was known for his novels, poems, essays and paintings as well. Along with Henrik Ibsen, Hans Christian Andersen, Søren Kierkegaard and Selma Lagerlöf he is one of the all-time most influential authors of Scandinavia.

Love, Lies and Liquor - M. C. Beaton 2006-09-19

Love, Lies and Liquor continues the tradition in M. C. Beaton's beloved Agatha Raisin mystery series—now a hit show on Acorn TV and public television. Agatha Raisin is lonely. Busy as she is with her detective agency and the meetings of the Carsely Ladies' Society, she still misses her ex-husband, James Lacey, so she welcomes his return to the cottage next door with her usual triumph of optimism over experience—especially when he invites her on holiday at a surprise location that was once very dear to him. With visions of a romantic hideaway in Italy or the Pacific dancing in her head, Agatha goes off happily with James to...Snoth-on-Sea, in Sussex. While James may have fond memories of boyhood holidays there, Snoth-on-Sea has seen better days, as has the once-grand Palace Hotel, now run-down and tacky and freezing cold. Nor do the other guests have much to recommend them, especially the brassy honeymoon couple, Mr. and Mrs. Jankers, who pick a fight with Agatha in the dining room. But trouble has a way of following Agatha even if romance does not: Just as she and James are preparing to flee to warmer climes, Geraldine Jankers is found dead on the beach—strangled with Agatha's scarf. So much for Agatha's holiday fantasies: Not only is it time to put her detective skills to work, but the police are not even sure that she'll be allowed to leave town.

Love, Lies and Spies - Cindy Anstey
2016-04-19

In this hilarious homage to Jane Austen, a lady with a penchant for trouble finds a handsome spy much more than merely tolerable. "It's Jane Austen meets Jane Foster in Anstey's debut novel, which serves up a delightful combination of Regency romance, scientific curiosity, and spy intrigue for a tale that will have readers rooting for love and science." -Entertainment Weekly Juliana Telford is not your average nineteenth-century young lady. She's much more interested in researching ladybugs than marriage, fashionable dresses, or dances. So when her father sends her to London for a season, she's determined not to form any attachments. Instead, she plans to secretly publish her research. Spencer Northam is not the average young gentleman of leisure he appears. He is actually a spy for the War Office, and is more focused on acing his first mission than meeting eligible ladies. Fortunately, Juliana feels the same, and they agree to pretend to fall for each other. Spencer can finally focus, until he is tasked with observing Juliana's traveling companions . . . and Juliana herself. Full of humor and English Regency Period charm, and starring a whip-smart strong female heroine, Love, Lies and Spies by Cindy Anstey is a young adult novel with the perfect mix of romance, action, and adventure. "A tongue-in-cheek nod to Regency romances, Anstey's lighthearted novel is perfect for readers looking for an Austen-inspired tale of intrigue and romance. The story gets an additional boost from Juliana's many humorous scrapes, which are unbecoming of a nineteenth-century lady. This would make a nice companion for Garth Nix's farcical Newt's Emerald." -Booklist "Give to young teens in need of a fluffier Patrice Kindl's Keeping the Castle. . .

. A cute premise and cover make this a solid purchase for budding historical romance readers." -School Library Journal "I cannot tell you how much I love this book. Juliana, Spencer, Bobbington, ALL of them are just so utterly wonderful. This is BETTER than Georgette Heyer. YEP, I SAID IT." -Kelly Zekas, author of These Vicious Masks
